

SerVICES in the Churches of Washington

The National Board of the Young Women's Christian Association is interested not so much in girlhood as in girls of our nation and the world. Its members desire that the organization may help the young women of today to understand and to feel the needs of one another. Thus they may help themselves and serve their generation best.

THE NATIONAL BAPTIST MEMORIAL

Sixteenth Street and Columbia Road N. W.

The movement for the erection in Washington, by the Baptists of America, of a National Memorial Church and Statue, was launched five years ago when the Northern and Southern Baptist Conventions, meeting in Cleveland and New Orleans, respectively, passed resolutions approving of such a memorial, and appointing, in each case, a committee for its furtherance. Dr. B. D. Gray, secretary of the home board, of Atlanta, was appointed the chairman of the Southern committee, and Dr. Emory W. Hunt, president of Bucknell University, Lewisburg, Pa., the chairman of the Northern committee. Two years later the memorial was placed in the budgets of the New World Movement in the North, and the Seventy-five Million Campaign in the South. Two years ago, a national building committee was appointed, of which Dr. E. B. Jackson of Alexandria, Va., is chairman. Last year the contract was let for the beginning of the work, and ground was broken by President Harding with fitting ceremonies on April 23. The contract for the main superstructure has been let and it is expected that the work will go rapidly forward.

The original name was "The Roger Williams Memorial." A statue of this great pioneer is proposed to be placed in front of the structure. The aim, as stated in the literature of the movement, is "the erection by the Baptists of America, in the Nation's Capital, of a memorial church and statue for the commemoration of our pioneers and the perpetuation of our principles." The specific principle to be emphasized is that of religious liberty. On the occasion of breaking ground, President Harding said: "We cannot have too many monuments to religious liberty, or too much religious life in our land." It is expected building operations will be resumed in April.

Pastor Gove G. Johnson is now in his eighth year with Immanuel Church, which is to become "The National Baptist Memorial to Religious Liberty." The church now numbers nearly 900 members.

LUTHERANS ESTABLISH LOCAL CHURCH EXTENSION FUND.

The board of directors of the Lutheran Alliance at its regular meeting last Monday established a fund for local home mission and church extension work. Sunday, May 14, was set aside to be observed in the Lutheran churches of Washington as Alliance Day for the purpose of gathering contributions to this fund and increasing the membership of the alliance.

The fund is to be used in establishing mission churches in new parts of the city and surrounding suburbs. Part of it will be used in connection with the work of St. John's Lutheran Church at East Riverdale, Md., a recently established mission which proposes to erect a chapel this spring to care for its rapidly growing Sunday school and church.
